DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: Page 7, line 4, "carped" is an error for --carpeted--.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).
3. Claims 1-4, 9-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the prior art as admitted by applicant in view of Kramer.

Art Unit: 3612

The prior art as admitted by applicant has toe board 102 with lower and upper ends, pad member 105, restricting member 103, a cross member, seat shown in figures 4-5, but no fragile part, merely a section of the pad that bends upon impact.

Kramer teaches that a pad 21 for a vehicle floor may have grooves or notches 24 in its underside in order to enhance securement to the floor. Such notches are inherently more fragile than the area of the pad therebetween. As a result, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill to provide in the prior art as admitted by applicant a pad as taught by Kramer for that reason. The notched pad of Kramer, when installed in the floor of the admitted prior art has fragile parts in the vicinity of the seat.

As to claim 2, see load transmitting part 104, 107, 108.

As to claim 3, see mounting bracket 107.

As to claim 4, see impact absorbing member 104, 107.

As to claim 10, the pad of Kramer would not inhibit movement of legs upon impact as it would have enhanced ability to fold upon impact due to the weakened notches 24 throughout.

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 5-8 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments filed August 5, 2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The arguments regarding the conventional structure no longer apply.

Conclusion

6. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
